Heat

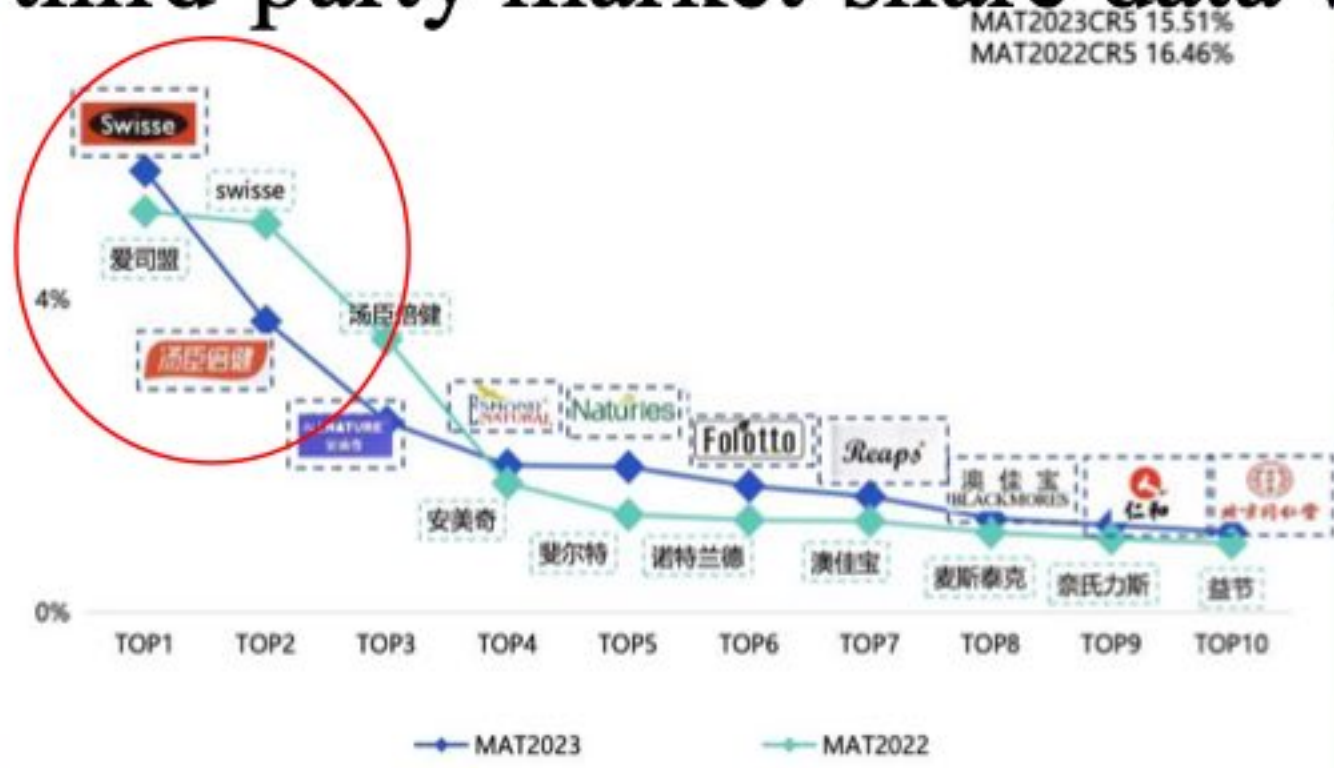

Red:

The average heat per note was 67.82, with the highest heat at 180.67 through the use of simplification, and the lowest heat at 12.56 when appealing to authority, which may be due to skepticism about the credibility of authority.

2.1 Appeal to Humor

Adapt the lines of the Legend of Zhen Huan to make the copywriting lively and humorous.

Theoretical support: Humor might be effective in persuasion by increasing liking for the source and effective in persuasion is to increase trust in the source (Lyttle, 2001).

2.2 Appeal to Fear

Theoretical support: Fear appeals effectively influence attitude, intentions, and behaviors (Tannenbaum, Hepler, Zimmerman, Saul, Jacobs, Wilson & Albarracín, 2015).

- Theoretical support: credibility and confidence can be triggered with authority techniques (Ibrahim, Shiratuddin & Wong, 2013).

Invite professors from Peking University to popularize science, enhance the credibility of the efficacy of the product, and persuade people to buy the product.

8.Cause-and-Effect Simulations

什么是糖化?

所谓“糖化”，指的是我们体内的蛋白质和通过饮食摄入的“糖”结合，导致蛋白质质变，发黄变脆的现象。

皮肤的糖化反应导致过多的糖分会附着在胶原蛋白上，使胶原蛋白断裂或紊乱，肌肤便会出现皱纹、粗糙。

People are more likely to be persuaded of the reasons for the science, and that the use of the product can solve the problem.

9.Discount

On June 18, the product was on sale, and the lower price encouraged people to buy.

3.2 Time Frame

Six months, from 1 May 2023 to 31 October 2023.

This window covers the 618 and Double 11 pre-sale periods, so engagement may run above the annual average.

3.3 Sample Size

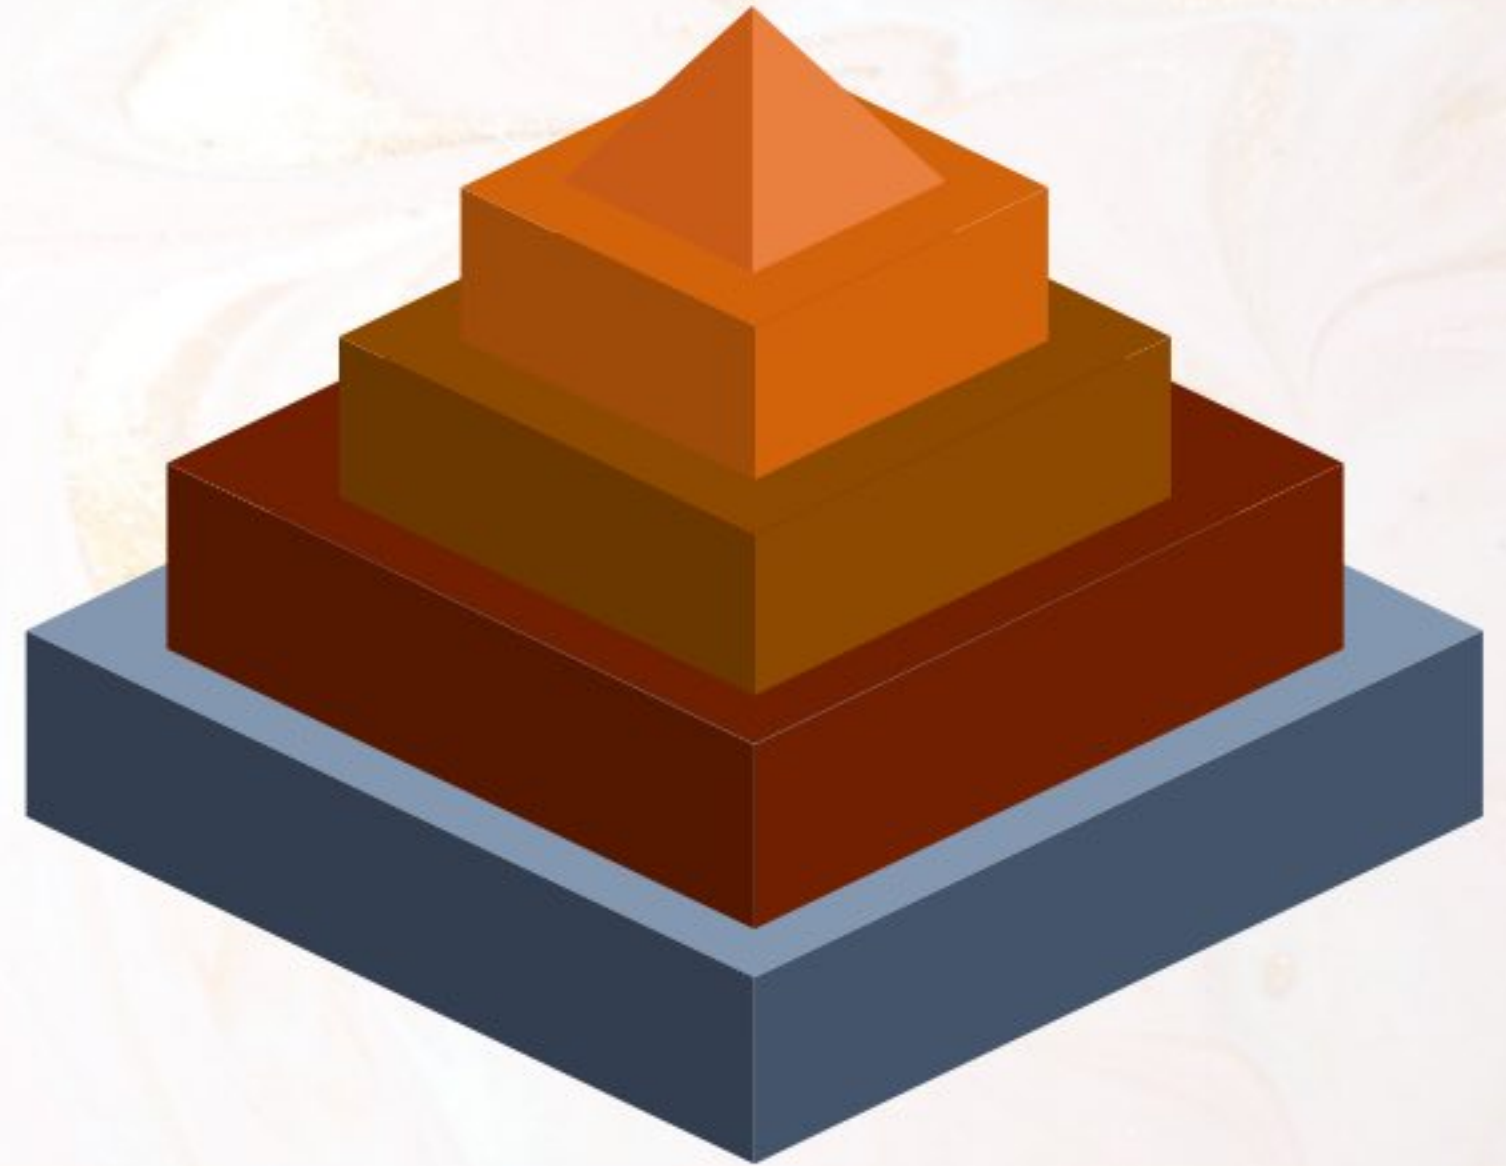

Red: 334 posts in the period, 307 of which used one of the persuasive techniques below.

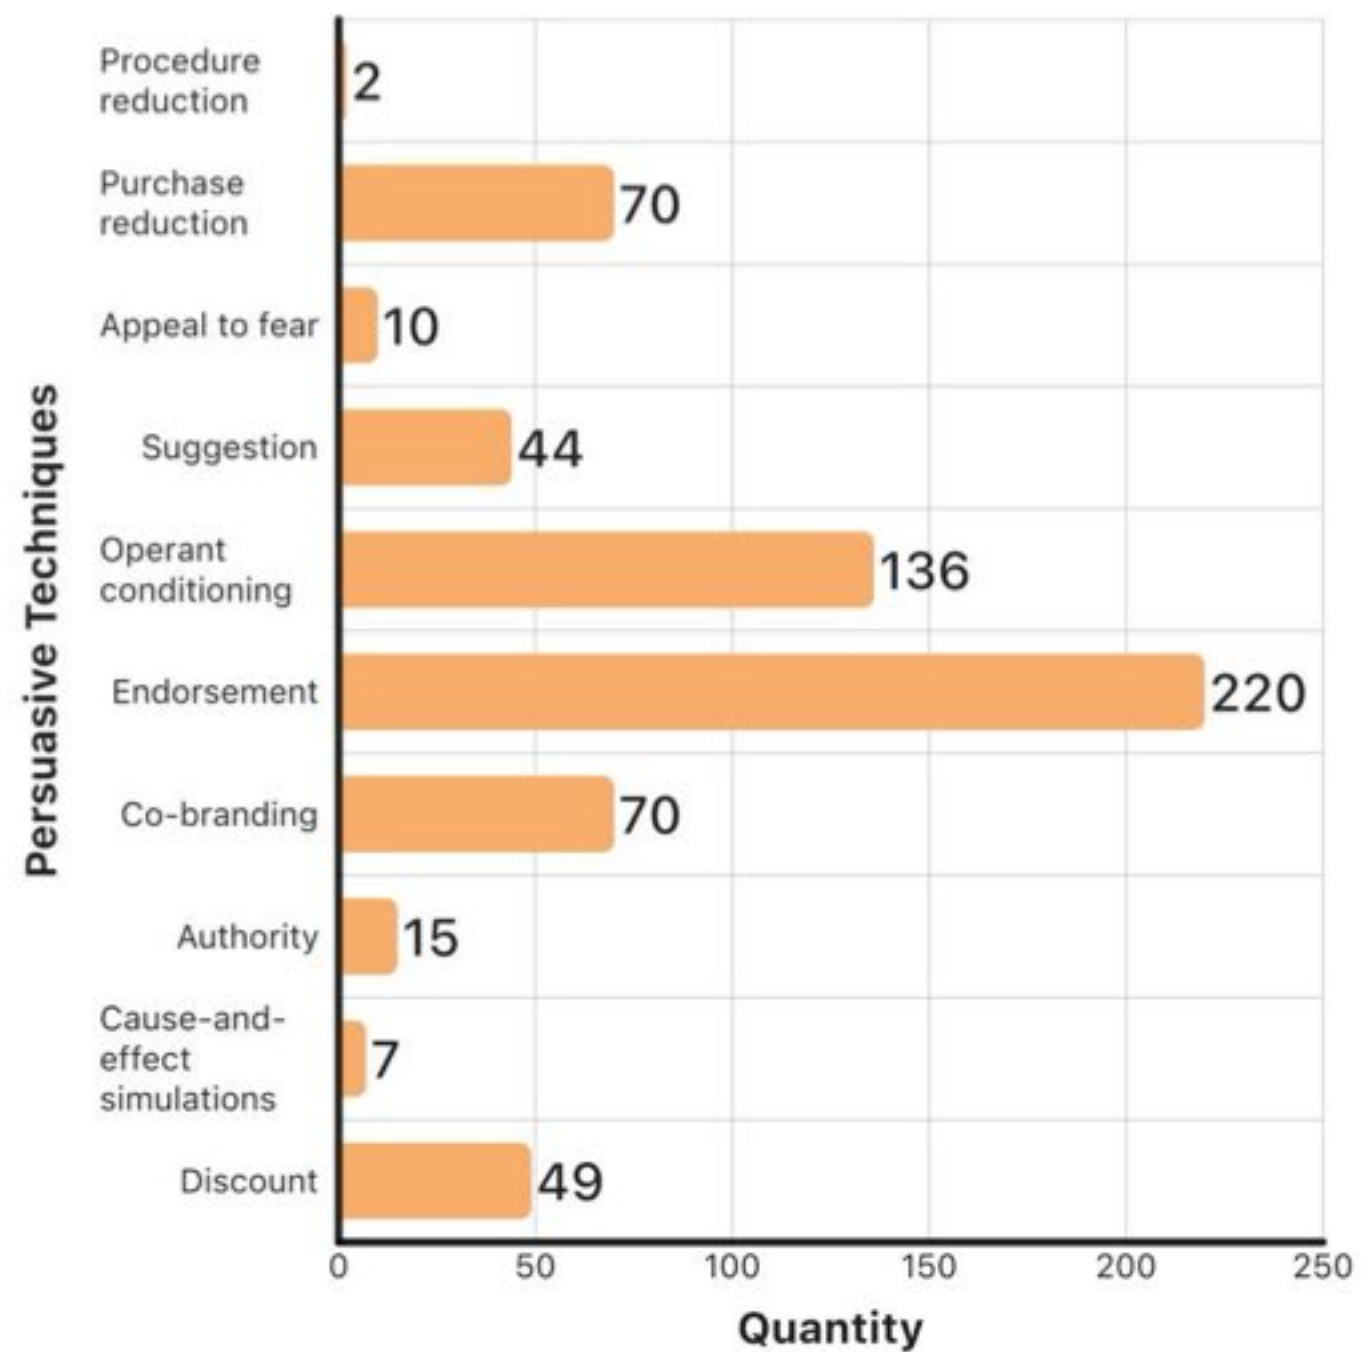

Weibo: 701 posts published, 627 of which used one.

Total coded: 934 posts.

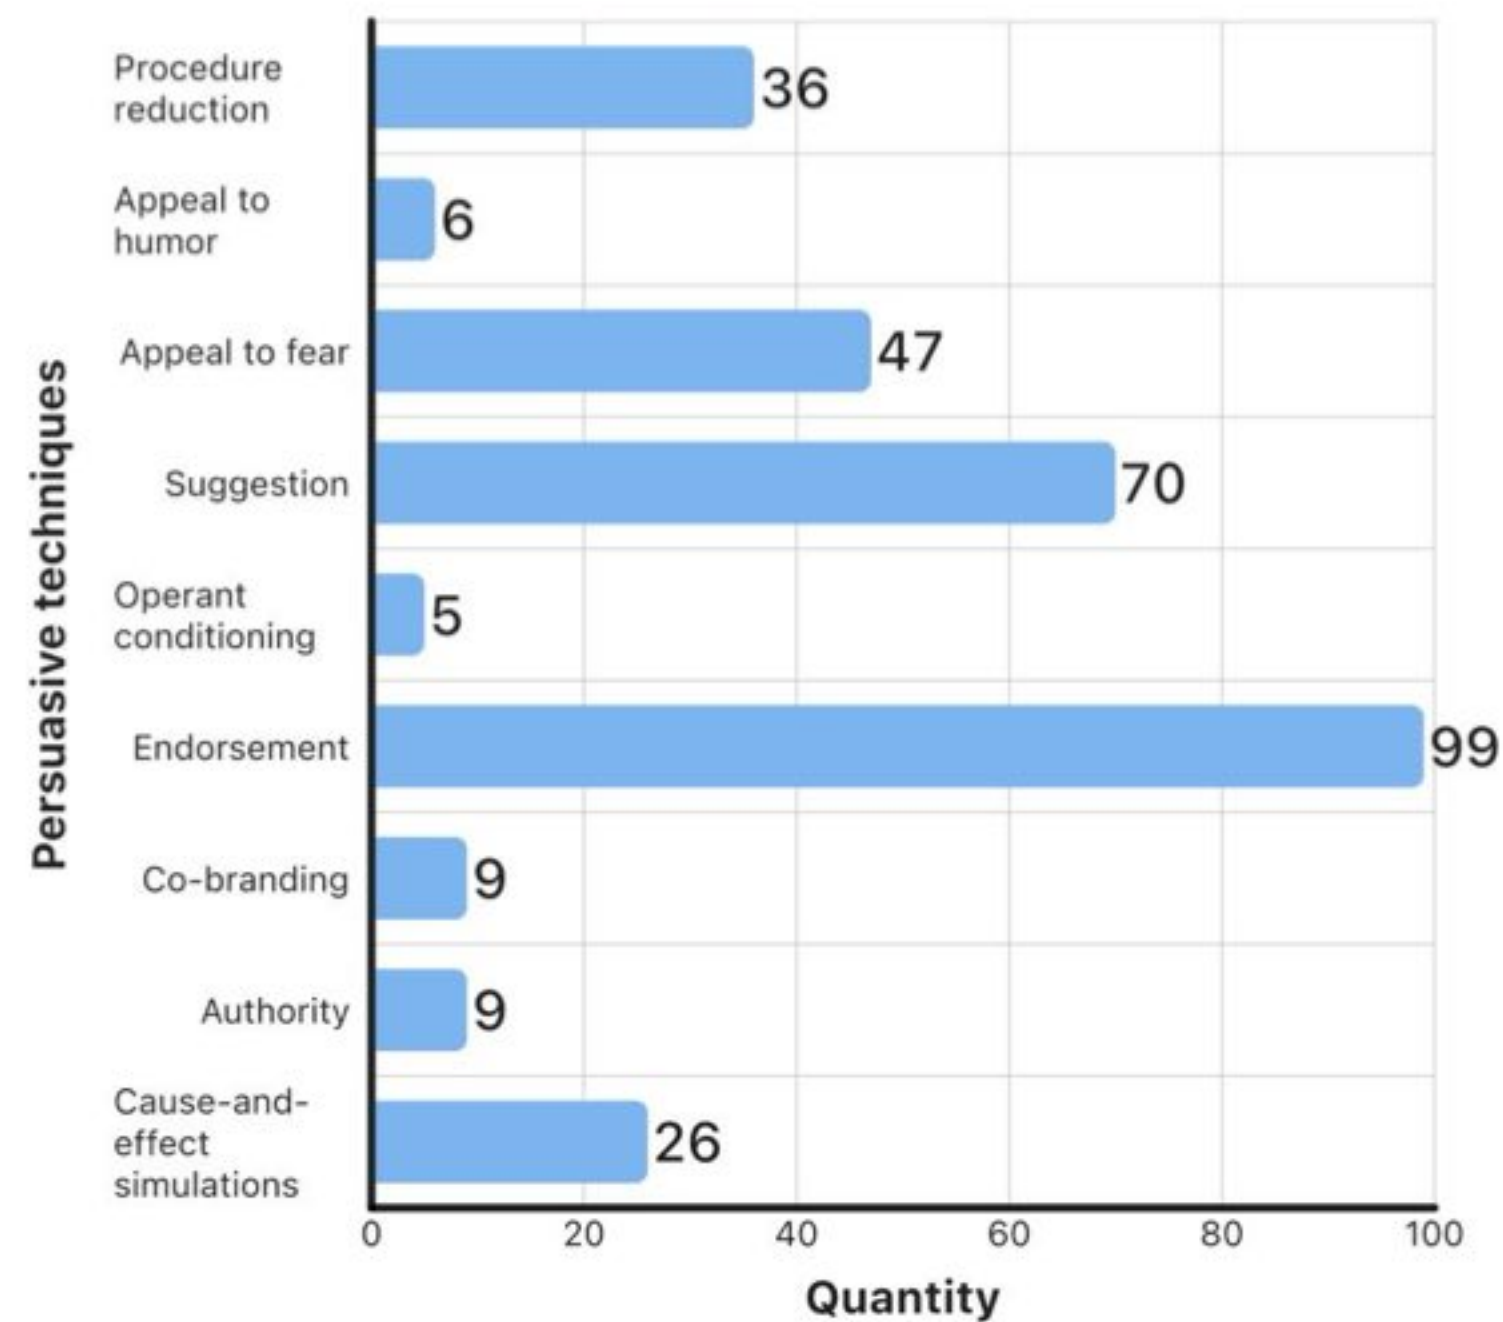

Coding scheme: each post was assigned a single dominant technique, so the per-technique counts sum to 934. Posts combining several techniques were coded by the one carrying the main persuasive load.

Limitation: coding was done by five coders working independently, with no intercoder reliability test (Cohen's κ / Krippendorff's α). This is the principal methodological limitation of the study.

● Frequency in Red Book

Table: The operationalization of frames

Table 1. The operationalisation of frames.

Frames	Operationalisation(Frames)	Themes	Operationalisation(Themes)	Examples
Reduction	The theory behind reduction technologies is that making a behavior easier to perform increases the benefit/cost ratio of the behavior.	Procedure reduction	Reduce product use steps	Comparing to the complexity of doing medical beauty, persuading people to eat this product can greatly reduce the steps and have the same effect.
		Purchase reduction	Reduce product purchase steps	Attach a purchase link below the copy, you can directly jump to buy the product.
Appeal to emotion		Appeal to humor	Use humorous text or pictures to make people feel happy, so that the brand and product will be favorable.	Adapt the lines of the Legend of Zhen Huan to make the copywriting lively and humorous.

		Appeal to fear	Fear appeals are persuasive messages that attempt to arouse fear by emphasizing the potential danger and harm that will befall individuals if they do not adopt the messages' recommendations.	Scare people are close to fatty liver, feel urgent, so that marketing their own products can solve the problem, people are more likely to be convinced.	Co-branding	Operational definition: Co-branding, defined here as pairing two or more branded products (constituent brands) to form a separate and unique product (composite brand)			Co-branding with "Heartbeat Signal" variety show, can increase the credibility of the brand.
	Suggestion		Suggestion at the opportune time will make the persuasive message more effective. Suggestion technologies often build on people's existing motivations, and simply serves to cue a relevant behavior.	On the occasion of Women's Day, promoting products suitable as gifts for women.	Authority	Enhancing the professionalism and credibility of a product by showcasing industry elites in relevant fields to highlight the uniqueness of the product in design or implementation.			Invite professors from Peking University to popularize science, enhance the credibility of the efficacy of the product, and persuade people to buy the product.
Operant conditioning			A conditioning technology is a computerized system that uses principles of operant conditioning to change behaviors. Lottery can encourage consumers to make comments, forward posts and other spontaneous publicity behavior, belong to operant conditioning technique.	Open a link to the lottery on Weibo, encouraging people to comment and watch the marketing broadcast.	Cause-and-effect simulations	Cause-and-effect simulations can be powerful persuaders. The power comes from the ability to explore cause-and-effect relationships without having to wait a long time to see the results and the ability to convey the effects in vivid and credible ways.			People are more likely to be persuaded of the reasons for the science, and that the use of the product can solve the problem.
	Endorsement		Leveraging the influence and popularity of celebrities or public figures to promote or endorse a product, service, or viewpoint, aims to establish trust and recognition among the audience.	In the Weibo copy, the brand spokesperson Dili Reba is promoted to persuade fans to buy endorsement products.	Discount	Discount is a means of persuasion to reduce the price directly or to promote the product. It is the most direct and simple means to promote consumer purchase.			On June 18, the product was on sale, and the lower price encouraged people to buy.

4.2 Bad Persuasive Techniques

4.2.1 Cause-and- Effect Simulations

- It only provides verbal data outputs.
- Significance of the data is not important.
- Consumers do not have an intuitive feeling for the changes in the data.
- Real effect of using the product and the comparison before and after.

4.2.1 Cause-and- Effect Simulations

Find their subject groups, record the different changes of their skin every day during the use of the product and give intuitive evaluation data for consumers' reference.

Greatly improves the persuasiveness of the products, and Kiehl's conveys information to consumers in a vivid and credible way.

4.2 Bad Persuasive Techniques

4.2.2 Conditioning

- Over-reliance on endorsements and fan bases.
- The lottery crowd is concentrated in the spokesperson's fan group.
- Brand intent: get more consumers to post photos with Swisse and build social proof.
- In practice the comments carry no interaction — only entry declarations and calls to the celebrity.

Note: on Weibo, conditioning records the highest engagement of all ten techniques (2313.65 average comments). High engagement is not high persuasion — this format lifts the numbers without moving brand perception beyond the existing fan base.

4.2 Bad Persuasive Techniques

4.2.3 Authority

- Swisse work closely with research institutions such as the Chinese Nutrition Society, the Australian National Institute of Integrative Medicine.
- Insist on holding health seminars twice a year to support the innovation of nutritional supplements.
- Official publicity almost nothing.
- Copywriting is very unprofessional, can not attract the attention of consumers at first sight.

4.3 Evaluation for Persuasive Techniques in Red & Weibo

Benchmark: the bars show the average likes / comments per technique; the line is the median of those nine (Red) or ten (Weibo) averages — not the median of the 934 individual posts.

Red · average likes — benchmark 26.57

At/above: Reduction 116.78, Suggestion 57.60, Endorsement 37.81, Cause-and-effect 30.15, Appeal to fear 26.57

Below: Appeal to humor 26.00, Conditioning 24.40, Co-branding 12.44, Authority 7.10

Red · average comments — benchmark 19.32

At/above: Reduction 63.89, Endorsement 35.61, Suggestion 27.59, Conditioning 23.20, Appeal to fear 19.32

Below: Co-branding 16.78, Appeal to humor 11.17, Cause-and-effect 8.08, Authority 5.44

Weibo · average likes — benchmark 778.49

At/above: Co-branding 3320.63, Endorsement 2129.20, Conditioning 1643.06, Purchase reduction 935.19, Appeal to fear 874.20

Below: Discount 682.78, Suggestion 560.07, Reduction 436.00, Cause-and-effect 223.86, Authority 74.13

Weibo · average comments — benchmark 381.55

At/above: Conditioning 2313.65, Co-branding 1035.17, Endorsement 896.57, Suggestion 420.98, Appeal to fear 405.70

Below: Purchase reduction 357.40, Discount 215.20, Reduction 180.00, Cause-and-effect 91.71, Authority 73.00

4.4 Cross-platform Comparison

Limitations: the category sets differ (Red 9 techniques, Weibo 10 — Weibo splits Reduction into purchase and procedure reduction and adds Discount), so only the eight labels common to both are compared. Absolute engagement is not comparable across platforms — Weibo figures run roughly 30× Red's because of audience size — so only within-platform ranks are used.

Ranking the eight techniques present on both platforms, by average likes (Red rank / Weibo rank):

Reduction 1 / 6 Suggestion 2 / 5 Endorsement 3 / 2 Cause-and-effect 4 / 7
Appeal to fear 5 / 4 Conditioning 6 / 3 Co-branding 7 / 1 Authority 8 / 8

Spearman rank correlation between the two platforms: $\rho = -0.07$ ($p = 0.87$).

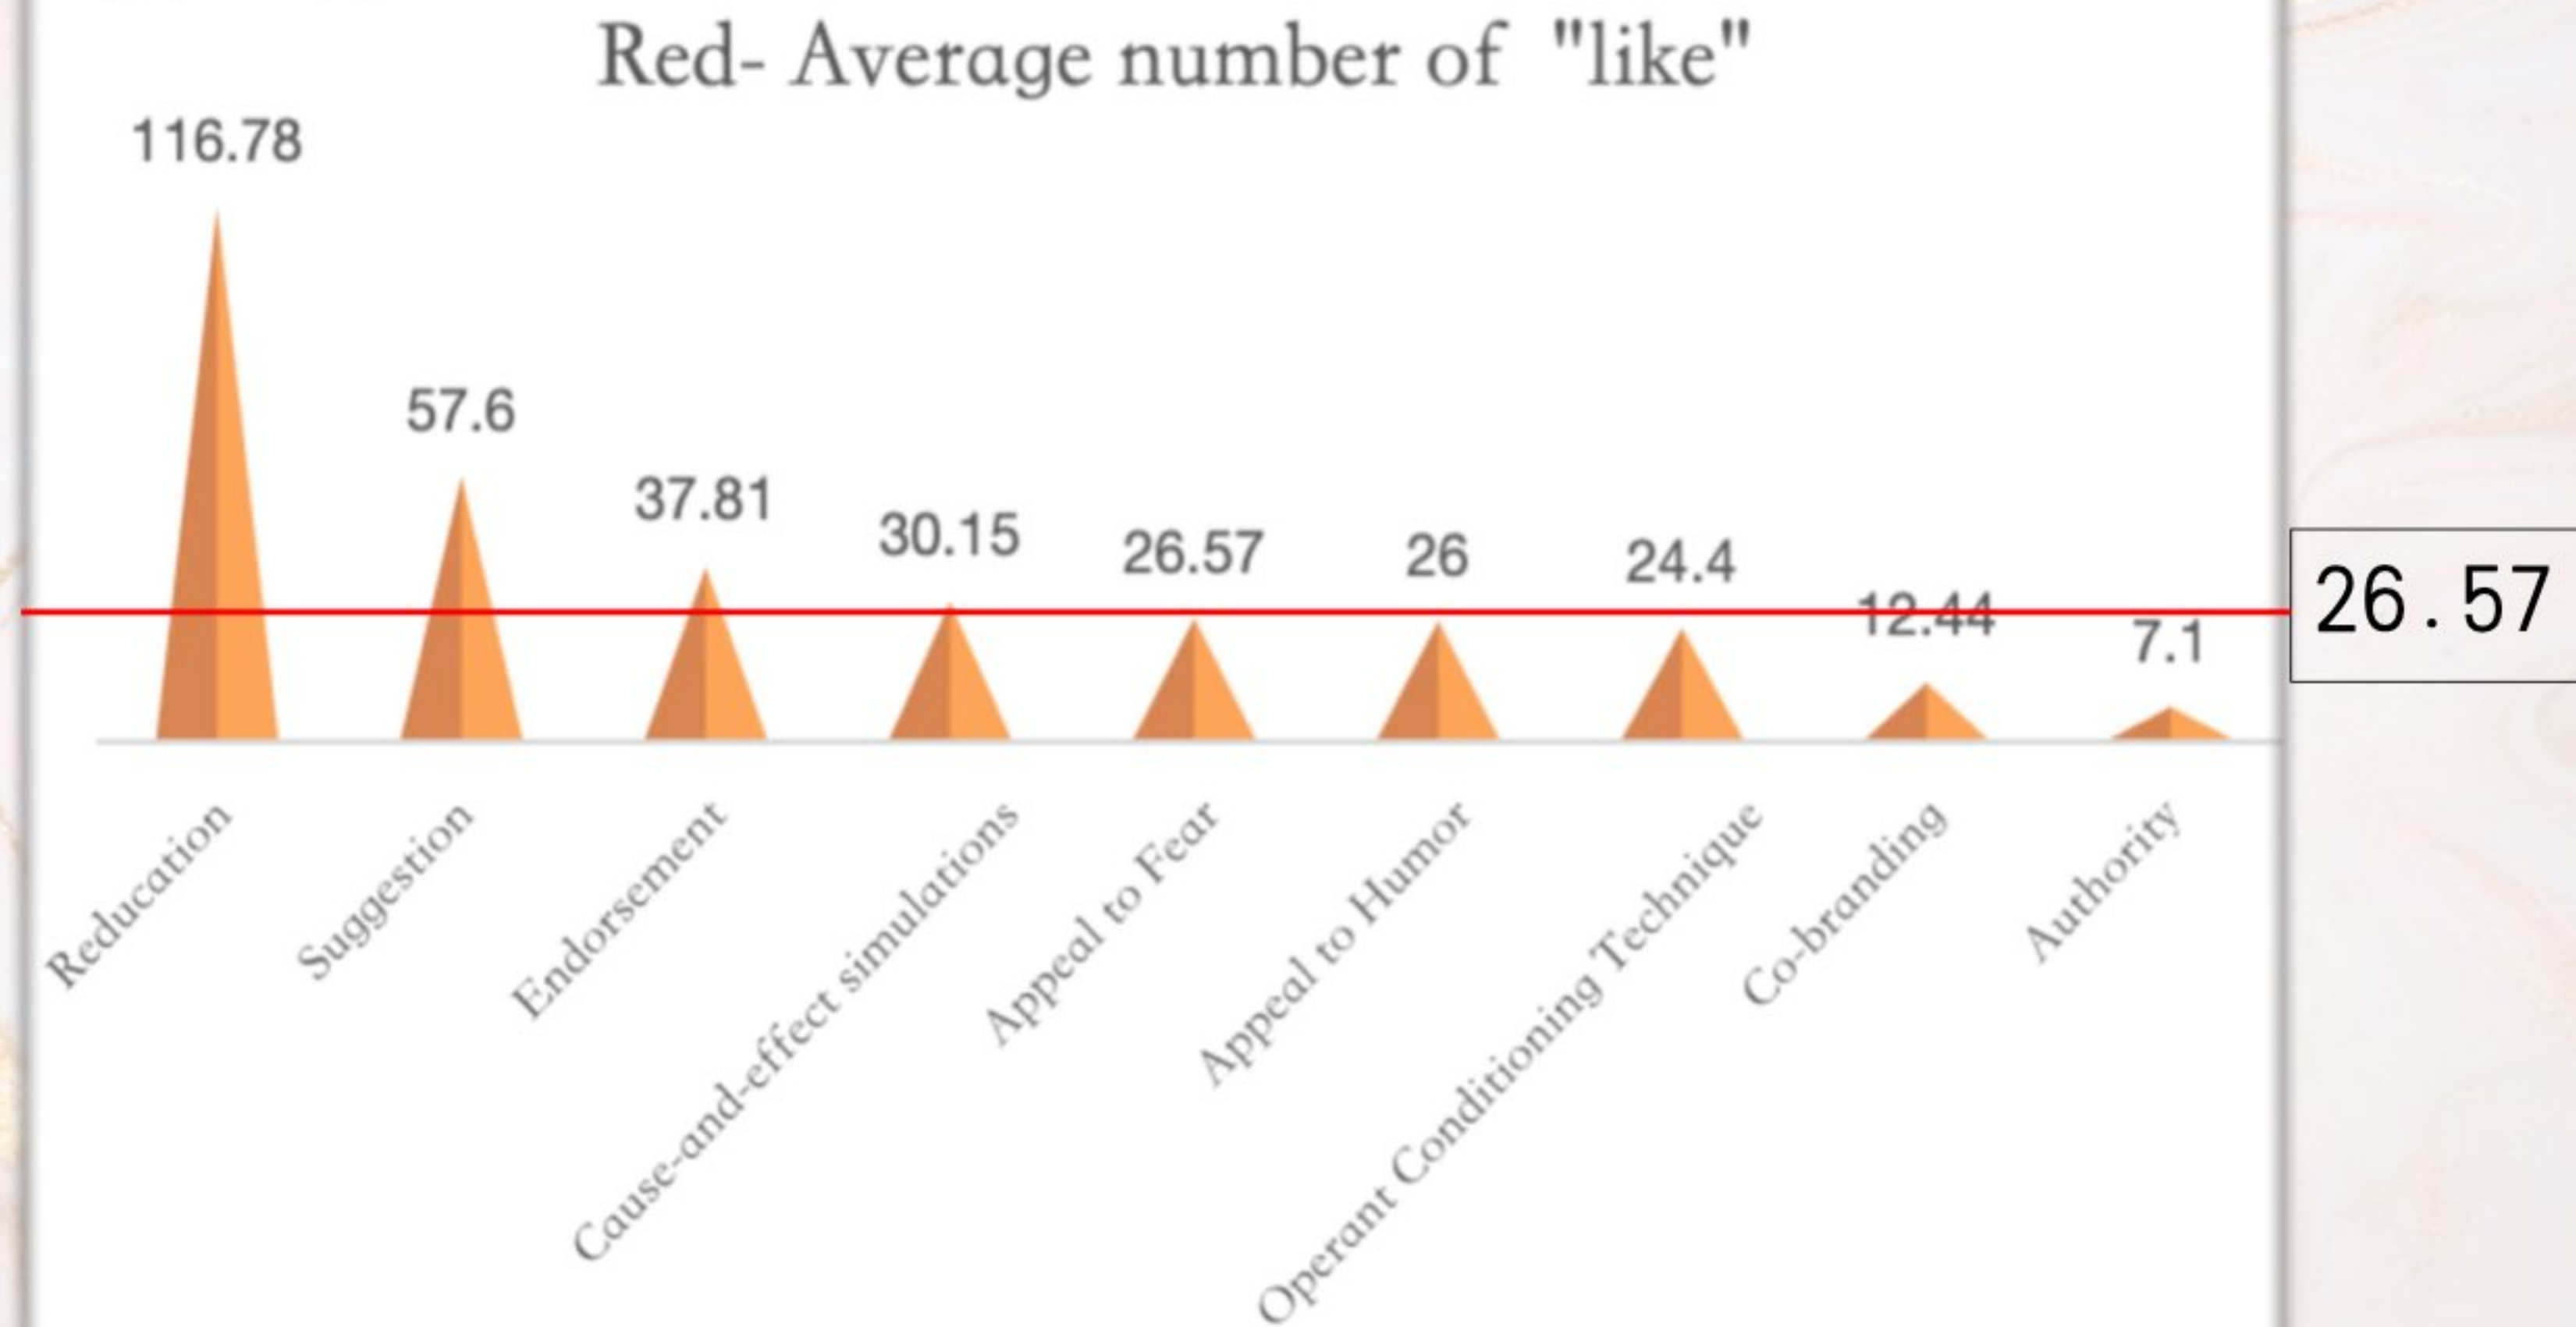

The two rankings are effectively unrelated. Reduction ranks first on Red and sixth on Weibo; co-branding ranks second from last on Red and first on Weibo. The only technique that holds its position is Authority — bottom on both.

So the useful question is not which technique works, but which technique works where.

And the one stable finding is that the authority-led content Swisse invests the most real resource in — partnerships with the Chinese Nutrition Society and the Australian National Institute of Integrative Medicine, two health seminars a year — performs worst on both platforms. The brand spends on credentials and takes its traffic from lotteries.
